MEDICAL SCHOOL DAY #1. Little do these students know what looms in the distance.

UPHILL IN THE SNOW BOTH WAYS. Bill O'Rourke makes the trek across the frozen tundra of Miller Meadows.

HELLO, MY NAME IS KEVIN CAVANAUGH AND I WILL BE YOUR DOCTOR. Kevin models the latest in ENT technology for the El train patrons.
THE IVORY MECCA. The Medical Center campus became our home away from home for four years.

THE EARLY YEARS. These Stritch students get to know one another at one of the first class functions.

YES, THERE REALLY ARE BEACHES IN THE MIDWEST. The beautiful Chicago skyline hovers above Lake Michigan.
BUGGING OUT. It's amazing what a few too many days in the hospital will do for your frame of mind.
LITTLE DEBBIE HAS A SNACK FOR YOU. When she's not at school, Debbie Muggler makes some extra money driving a delivery truck.

DID EVERYONE BRING THEIR DRAMAMINE? These Stritch students get ready to enjoy the annual end of the year boat trip.

ON THE HIGH SEAS. Dave Fuhrmann and Mary Ahn enjoy a beautiful day on Lake Geneva.
PUFF SAYS, "CHICKS DIG BALLOON HATS." Will King demonstrates the effectiveness of good accessories.

DON'T TOUCH MY NEW WHITE COAT, MAN. Brett Christansen wears his freshly pressed coat for the first time.
AT THE TRACKS, TAKE FOUR. These Stritch students enjoy the ambiance at another class party.

SIMPLY IRRESTIBLE. Dan can't keep his hands off this beautiful Stritch student.

WHERE DO THEY KEEP THOSE EXTRA LARGE BOUFFANT CAPS? These surgery clerks get ready to practice their techniques in dog lab.

GO WEST, YOUNG MEN. Sam, Dave, Dan, and Mike explore life outside the hospital.
DOES ANYBODY NEED A TISSUE? Dave Fuhrmann never leaves home without a few Kleenex.

MEDICAL SCHOOL MAKES US FEEL ALL GROOVY INSIDE. Tammy and Debbie get in touch with their wild sides.

DANCING THE NIGHT AWAY. Sheri Lambert shows off her best moves.

THIS IS ALOT BETTER THAN BIOCHEM. Liz Beko, Geoff Kuhlman, and Bill O'Rourke enjoy a weekend off at a college football game.
WHAT ARE THOSE TENNIS RACQUET THINGS CALLED AGAIN? Future histologists, Aileen Gibbons and Kristen Brown, spend hours reviewing tissue specimens.

I HEARD THAT IF YOU TAPE A PLASTIC BANANA TO YOUR HAT WHILE STUDYING, YOU REMEMBER THINGS ALOT EASIER. Mike Radzienda tests out his latest theory before an anatomy test.

IS THAT THE AMYGDALA? Rahul, Mark, and Taaly demonstrate their knowledge of the limbic system.
THE BOYS, AND GIRLS, OF SUMMER. These Stritch students await their next game in the battle for the softball championship title.

PSEUDOSTRATIFIED CILIATED KERITINIZED EPITHELIUM? Scott Sinnot, Mike Johnson, and Steve Gabel ponder the significance of their latest diagnosis.

SNOW BUNNIES. Mike Urban and Debbie Muggler hit the slopes on the freshman year class trip.
PIZZA AGAIN? Tim Schneider takes advantage of the free food at a class meeting.

DA' BEARS. Will King raises his glass to the only real team in football.

THE PERKS OF AMWA MEMBERSHIP. Dawn Beckman and Julie Motycka represent Loyola at the national AMWA meeting in San Francisco.

IMMOBILIZING THE C-SPINE. Mike Radzienda demonstrates the use of the cervical collar on Kim Glazier.
FRISBEE ANYONE? These Stritch students take a break at North Avenue Beach.

ANOTHER CLASS PICNIC. Tony Chiang, Dan Davis, and Sam Baronofsky relax at Miller Meadow.

JUST LIKE HOME. Mike Johnson catches a few minutes of sleep in the call room.

STATUS POST BOARDS PART ONE. Pat, Leena, Kevin, and Sonali breathe a sigh of relief after two days of testing.

"The slave-doctor prescribes what mere experience suggests, as if he had exact knowledge, and when he has given his orders, like a tyrant, he rushes off with equal assurance to some other servant who is ill.... But the other doctor, who is a freeman, attends and practices on freemen; and he carries his enquiries far back, and goes into the nature of the disorder; he enters into discourse with the patient and with his friends, and is at once getting information from the sick man, and also instructing him as far as he is able, and he will not prescribe for him until he has first convinced him; at last, when he has brought the patient more and more under his persuasive influences and set him on the road to health, he attempts to effect a cure."

The LRC lives on!!!!!

Thanks to the coolest, sweetest, and smartest roomies one could ever have!!!
My two special budding does - ROSEBUD and LILIBUD......
Med School wouldn't have been such wonderful memories without you!!!!!!

And by the way, Thanks to the rest of my pals and past study buddies
YOU know who you are - don't want to embarass or forget anyone who have made the floors more bearable, who have made frosh and soph yrs so much fun, and lastly who have helped me survive my few years in the heartlands

And last but not least, Thanks to my dear family - especially lil Cristeen for usually being there for me and Kuya Gib for your inspiration!!!!!

GOOD LUCK to you all!!!! Med School wasn't so bad after all!!!!!
I will miss you ROSE and LIL.

Love,
from the one and only CHONA

To the Class of '95:

Good luck to everyone in their careers.
    May all your goals be met.
    May all your dreams come true.
    May all your lives be happy and rich.
Samuel Baronofsky, M.D.
Dear Class,

It is hard to believe that our time together has come to an end so quickly. It seems that just yesterday we arrived for freshman orientation wondering who our anatomy partners would be. In four years, we've come to know each other quite well—in class and on the floors as well as at club functions, picnics, parties, and of course, ice skating! The hard work, long hours, headaches, and frustrations always seemed a little easier to endure with the support we received from each other. As we finish these four challenging years, the effort that was necessary to meet every challenge and accomplish our many goals is not easily forgotten. Now we can take pride in our achievements as our dreams are within reach.

"...Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by.
And that has made all the difference."

Robert Frost

Loyola has changed our lives forever. Good luck and God bless!
Elizabeth Beko, M.D.

I would like to thank my family and friends whose love and friendship has brought me through these four years. Special thanks to Mom, Dad, and Ron: without you, I would have never had such success!
Donna Besier, M.D.

Thank You. Good Luck.

To my husband and family who helped make this possible - all my love and thanks.

May the road rise up to meet you.
May the wind be always at your back.
May the sun shine warm upon your face.
And the rains fall soft upon your fields.
And until we meet again.
May God hold you in the palm of His hand.

Phenomenal Woman

Pretty women wonder where my secret lies,
I'm not cute or built to suit a fashion model's size;
But when I start to tell them,
They think I'm telling lies.
I'm not cute - built to suit a size;
But when I start to tell them,
They think I'm telling lies.

I walk into a room,
Just as cool as you please,
And to a man.

The fellows stand or fall down on their knees.
Then they swarm around me,
A hive of honey bees.
I say,
It's in the reach of my arms,
The span of my hips,
The curl of my lips.
I'm a woman Phenomenally
Phenomenal woman.

I'm a woman Phenomenally
Phenomenal woman.

Now you understand.

Men themselves have wondered
What they see in me.
They try so much.
But they can't touch
My inner mystery.
When I try to show them
They say they still can't see.
I say,
It's in the reach of my arms.
The span of my hips.
The curl of my lips.
I'm a woman Phenomenally
Phenomenal woman.

The swing of my waist,
And the joy in my feet,
I'm a woman Phenomenally
Phenomenal woman.

The swing of my waist,
And the joy in my feet,
I'm a woman Phenomenally
Phenomenal woman.

The swing of my waist,
And the joy in my feet,
I'm a woman Phenomenally
Phenomenal woman.

I don't shout or jump about
Or have to talk real loud.
When you see my passing
It ought to make you proud.
I say,
It's in the click of my heels.
The bend of my hair.
The palm of my hand;
The need for my care.
'Cause I'm a woman Phenomenally
Phenomenal woman.

That's me.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR PHYSICAL SYMPTOMS

Inhabit, listen carefully:
The bodily symptoms you are having are not drug effects:
They indicate that you are struggling against the awareness of feelings which will support your personal experience.
You cannot control these universal energy waves.
Let the feelings melt all over you.
Breathe part of them in and through them.
Allow yourself to pulsate with the vibrations surrounding you.
-Rise.
-Do not struggle.
Your symptoms will disappear as soon as all trace of ego-centered striving disappears.
Accept them as the message of the body.
Welcome them. Enjoy them.

"If an urn lacks the characteristics of an urn, how can we call it an urn?"

"No, Goldmund. I am not like you, not in the way you think, although I, too, am keeping an unspoken vow-in that respect you are right - but I am in no way like you.
Some day you will think of what I am going to say to you now: our friendship has no other purpose, no other reason, than to show you how utterly unlike me you are."
God grant me
SERENITY
to accept the things
I cannot change,
COURAGE to change
the things I can and WISDOM
to know the difference.

What happened...MD!
Loyola isn't quite the rasta-type surf school it was made up to be.
John Santaniello, M.D.
There will be rainbows,
There will be sunsets.
And there will be parties and fireworks.
And music enough to dance.
And there will be chances to take,
Money to make.
Out in the battling crowd,
You'll be allowed to push and shove.

There will be laughter,
There will be heartache.
You'll want to follow your rivers
Through mountains to oceans wide
But don't forget, little man,
Keep this if you can.
Listen and please be wise,
No matter what the prize you're dreaming of Make time enough for love.

- Jimmy Webb
I guess the important thing is not to take the whole experience for granted. I'd like to quote a psychiatrist who spoke of the dissonance of forgetting one's past. "It is as though, having learned to walk, the individual suddenly lost contact with the internal balance that makes walking possible." I feel that it wouldn't be a bad idea to look back when we finish this June and realize the worth of our past and not lose touch with the internal balance that made it possible.

I would like to thank my Mom and Dad, my three very cool brothers and Liz. Without you, I would have just been a medical student....

Best wishes to all my classmates!

May the road rise to meet you
May the wind always be at your back
May the sun shine warm upon your face, until we meet again may God hold you in the palm of his hand.

Thanks for the memories. Take care.

You'll get mixed up with many strange birds as you go.
So be sure when you step.
Step with care and great tact and remember that life's a great balancing act.

ST. LUKE'S DAY

CHEERS! Aileen Gibbons and Dan Feeney enjoy the day off at a pre-St. Luke's party.

I THINK THIS IS THE LUCKY TABLE. Jim, Bill, Tony, Liz, Dan, and Greg await the raffle for this year's table prizes.

St. Luke's Day is a Loyola tradition honoring the patron saint of medicine, St. Luke. This celebration takes place annually on the third Thursday in October. The day begins with a Mass and breakfast with the faculty, deans, and students. Following this, certain second-year students present research they have done over the last two years to the faculty and their fellow students. The day concludes with the St. Luke's Day Dinner and Dance which is held at The Carlisle in Oak Brook. Here, students and faculty enjoy a meal and cocktails as well as hours of dancing. During dinner, awards are presented for Teacher of the Year by each class and Resident of the Year. Another highlight of the evening is the raffling of thousands of dollars of individual and table prizes to students and faculty. These St. Luke's Day traditions have served to bring together the Loyola community in many ways.
MED STUDENTS BY DAY, FASHION SETTERS BY NIGHT. These students have put away their T-shirts and gym shoes for more appropriate attire.

SAY CHEESE. These Stritch students are all smiles celebrating their first St. Luke's Day.
ST. LUKE’S DAY

AND THIS IS WHERE I DO ALL MY STUDYING. Tammy Quitno gives a tour of her house at a pre-St. Luke’s party.

HOWARD AND HIS HAREM. Trish, Kim, and Christy try to decide who will get the first dance with Howard.

FOUR’S COMPANY. Pat, Kevin, Pete, and Allison prepare for their first St. Luke’s.
I HOPE THEY'RE RAFFLING A NEW SET OF GOLF CLUBS. These Stritch students admit the real reason they love St. Luke's Day.

YOU LOOK SO GOOD I COULD KISS YOU. Joe, Nicholas, and Brett are a hot trio at the St. Luke's Dinner.

C'MON GUYS, GIVE US A LITTLE SMILE. These med students seem a little camera shy.
DO WE REALLY HAVE TO KNOW THE pKa VALUES FOR ALL THE AMINO ACIDS? Harpreet Dillon and Trish Miki prepare for the dreaded Friday morning biochemistry quiz.

LET ME SUCK ON YOUR MARSHMALLOW. These freshmen learn the important skill of passing marshmallows on a straw.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU. Dan Feeney, Stacey Pinoris, and Dan Shin socialize at their first All-School Picnic.

WORKING IN THE COMMUNITY. These Stritch students participate in the Horizons program.
MED SCHOOL ISN'T SO BAD AFTER ALL. These freshmen get together for a pot-luck dinner.

We began the year as 130 unfamiliar faces, unsure of what lied ahead of us. We spent hours in anatomy lab learning the foundation of our medical knowledge and growing accustomed to that distinct smell of formaldehyde. We struggled through weekly biochemistry quizzes, neurology lab, and histology slides. This year was made bearable by frequent outings to local establishments as well as downtown Chicago. We enjoyed our first St. Luke's Day and our first ski trip. After ten long months, summer vacation finally arrived. It was a welcome break for many since this summer break was to be our last.

DO YOU THINK PEOPLE WILL TREAT ME LIKE AN UPPERCLASSMAN IF I WEAR SCRUBS AND A MASK? Tomi tries to figure out how to avoid being at the bottom of the totem pole again.
Sophomore year, we found ourselves back in the lecture hall, usually for 6-8 hours a day. Between Pathology, Pharmacology, and Microbiology, there was definitely less time for having fun. However, second semester gave us a taste of why we came to medical school in the first place. With clean white coats, ophthalmoscopes, reflex hammers, we got to see real patients, and do their histories and physical exams, usually taking 2-3 hours each. While Physical Diagnosis showed us the light at the end of the tunnel, we knew we still had one huge obstacle to overcome - the National Boards. After months of preparation, the test was finally upon us and sophomore year was in the past.
GETTING COMFORTABLE. Craig and Mona relax after a post-exam party.

TIE ME UP, TIE ME DOWN. Terry practices the art of slings on his partner, Steve.

FORE! Tammy, Dave, Dan, and John are in search of the 19th hole at the annual golf outing.

CALIFORNIA DREAMIN’. Jim, Ray, and Dan enjoy a cool, refreshing drink in the Golden State.
WHAT WOULD YOU DO FOR A SET OF PLASTIC BEADS? Aileen, Dave, Ginger, and Terese show off their beads at a Mardi Gras party.

CRANIAL NERVE 12 INTACT. Mary demonstrates part of the neurology exam in Door County.

Junior year, the clean white coats became a thing of the past. We were now part of the patient care "team." OB/GYN taught us that all babies are born in the middle of the night. Surgery taught us that the harder you retract, the more you learn. On medicine, we learned that, if you don't order the lab test, you don't have to fix the result. Pediatrics showed us that children are not just small adults. Psychiatry made us wonder if we, too, have obsessive-compulsive disorders. Through these long hours spent in the OR, on rounds, and with patients, we began to develop into physicians.

I JUST CAN'T CONTROL MY HAIR IN THIS HUMIDITY. Steve Gabel struggles with a major drawback to living in the midwest.

HERE'S TO US! Sheri, Kim, and Allison celebrate the end of the semester.

ONE MORE YEAR TO GO. Ray, Tomi, Kevin, and Nick are all smiles at the junior class party.

IF ONLY WE KNEW HOW TO COOK THESE THINGS. Dan and David show off their culinary skills.
SENIOR YEAR

With internship just one year away, we tried to stuff as much knowledge into our minds as we could. Patient care and medical "lingo" were much more familiar and we could actually carry on respectable conversations with attending physicians. We also began the job hunt - trying to make a career choice, applying, interviewing, and finally matching. Graduation was just around the corner, and we were able to enjoy some of the finer things in life again - going out with friends, playing basketball in the gym, traveling. Finally, in June, 1995, we took our Hippocratic oaths and received our M.D. degrees.

DO WE REALLY STILL HAVE TO STUDY?
Rose, Jenny, and Rachel prepare for more lectures.
WHAT WOULD WE DO WITHOUT HINES? Greg and Mike reminisce about good times at the V.A.

IT'S THE END OF THE WORLD AS WE KNOW IT. Sheri, Tomi, and Cindy get ready for life as real doctors.

MUD BOWL I. These seniors take time out to enjoy a game of football.
WHO WILL BE OUR NEXT VICTIM? These students await their next volleyball game at the All-School Picnic.

BEAUTY IS IN THE EYE OF THE BEHOLDER. Howard and Mike are clearly the apples of their parents' eyes.

LITTLE RASCALS: Tammy and Debbie show off their best Halloween costumes. Ohhhh Taayyy....
THIS CAN DEFINITELY BE CONSIDERED AN EDUCATIONAL EXPERIENCE. Geoff and Craig enjoy a college football tailgater.

ME OUT TO THE BALLGAME. Joe, Will, Pete, and Tammy await the AL West Champions.
THERE ISN'T ANY GAMBLING GOING ON, IS THERE, BOYS? Scott, Steve, and Mike take part in a friendly game of poker.

FLASHING THOSE PEARLY WHITES. Bernice gives a big smile while taking a study break in her MDL.

I KNOW THAT PAPER IS HERE SOMEWHERE. Paula and Claire demonstrate their organizational skills.

OOH, THIS IS SO COMFORTABLE. Mike models the latest in nasal cannula technology.

PEBBLES, CHEF BOYARDEE, AND WILL. Rose, Chris, and Will enjoy a Halloween party sophomore year.
March 15, 1995 - the long awaited Match Day. In a process unique to the medical profession, medical students across the country find out where they will spend the next three to seven years of their lives.

Four long years of studying, learning the art of medicine, culminated in the opening of one envelope at 12:00 EST. For the Loyola students, this meant gathering with faculty, family members, and classmates at The Playhouse in Forest Park. The day began with a class meeting, which was followed by the distribution of the envelopes. One by one, each student came forward to find out their destiny.

After what seemed like an eternity, the last student, Jim Lengemann, finally received his envelope. Around the room could be seen a wide range of emotions, including shock, elation, disappointment, and relief. No matter what the news inside the envelope, all students agreed that they were glad it was over. A new and exciting segment of their life was about to begin.

Dear Class of 1995:

Well, there it is - the long awaited yearbook. The 1995 Caduceus marks a new age of yearbooks at Loyola-Stritch. This is the first year we have utilized desktop publishing in which the entire book was created and edited in the extensive computer lab in our basement. This process saved us incredible amounts of time and money, so we were able to lengthen the book as well as add more color.

We appreciate the participation by the majority of our class members. Although it took some time, we were able to include almost everyone in this year's book. So when you are headed to a national convention in 20 years or so, you can pull out this book and refresh your memory on the names and faces of your former classmates.
A Letter from the Editors...

...we would like to extend a special thanks to those who made this book possible. First, to Mary Flowers, our sales representative from Walsworth Publishing, who was always available with creative ideas and support. Also a big thanks to the Dean of Students Office. Ginger, Gwen, and, of course, Mike Lambesis. Your dedication to our undertaking was remarkable. Mike: we definitely needed your editing skills and great eye for obscenities in pictures! Who knows what would have slipped by without you! Another thanks to Dr. Thomas for his computer insights and behind-the-scenes support. And a final thank you to Wyckoff Studios for providing the senior photos.

Finally, to the Class of 1985, we hope this book will stir up good memories of your years at Loyola-Stritch. The rest of our lives have been shaped by the experiences we have had and the people we have met here. We hope you will remember them fondly.

Good luck to all-
Allison and Pat
