"This year will forever be etched in our memories as one wild adventure in Europe. An adventure that will forever leave your hearts and minds scarred with unforgettable memories. On this adventure, you walked down a path. And on this path, sometimes there was light and other times there was not. The paths you have ventured down this year have forever changed your hearts and minds. There were times you walked alone; times you had companions. It was a time to lose and be lost; to find and be found. It was a time to get lost while trying to find yourself. It was a time to find true strength from within. And it is in these times that we have found something priceless: Memories to last us a lifetime."
