The Household of Queen Mary II 1689-1694

N.B.: Following the convention established in Sainty and Bucholz and in the main database, the household service of Mary's officers and servants is said to have ended with her death on 28 December 1694. But the Crown continued to pay them for the rest of their lives, adding them to Mary's pensions list. The resulting list, drawn up at Lady Day 1695, became the root of the monarch's personal pensions list. References to this list, e.g., "sl LD 1695: CTB X, 1074-78" are intended to show that the servant in question was still in service at the end of the Queen's life.
