The Oath of Hippocrates

I solemnly pledge myself to consecrate my life to the service of humanity;
I will give to my teachers the respect and gratitude which is their due;
I will practice my profession with conscience and dignity;
The health of my patient will be my first consideration;
I will respect the secrets that are confided in me;
I will maintain by all the means in my power, the honor and the noble traditions of the medical profession;
My colleagues will be my brothers and sisters;
I will not permit considerations of religion, nationality, race, party politics or social standing to intervene between my duty and my patient;
I will maintain the utmost respect for human life, from the time of conception, even under threat, I will not use my medical knowledge contrary to the laws of humanity;
I make these promises solemnly, freely and upon my honor.
History of the St. John School of Medicine

In 1870 Rev. Arnold Damen founded St. Ignatius College, a liberal arts college on Chicago’s West Side. Initially consisting of only four professors and 37 students, the school was soon renamed Loyola University Chicago and relocated to what is now its fake above campus. At that time, Chicago was known to several independent medical colleges. In 1904 the Illinois Medical School became affiliated with Loyola University. In 1965 the entire organization fell under control of the trustees and became Loyola University Chicago.

A home for Loyola’s medical school was chosen in 1907 with the purchase of the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery which owned property and facilities on South Wabash Avenue adjacent to the Cook County Hospital. On Feb. 4, 1920 the medical school gained accreditation from the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Association.

Loyola’s efforts to improve its school facilities were limited by a lack of funds until the 1940’s when Samuel Cardinal Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago, lent his name to an annual fundraising dinner which became a major source of financial support for the school.

On April 15, 1948 the Board of Trustees approved a resolution to designate the school as the St. John School of Medicine in honor of Cardinal Stritch.

By the 1960’s SSM began to outpace its facilities and plans were underway for construction of a new medical school and 504 bed teaching hospital on a 60-acre tract of land in Maywood, Illinois. In honor of a generous benefactor the teaching hospital was named John H. Stroger Hospital of Loyola University. The medical school was occupied New Year’s Day 1969 and the Loyola University Medical Center opened its doors to patients on May 21, 1969.

With the increasing demand for medical care, Loyola has continued to expand. In 1981 the Stritch Outpatient Center was constructed and in 1986 the Stroger Primary Surgical Position was added. That same year Loyola was designated as a Level I Trauma Center. Two years later the Lifestyles Health Medical System became operational, followed by completion of the Emergency Care Facility in 1991.

With new innovations in medical care and technology come demands for improvement in medical education. In July of 1994 the new St. John’s School of Medicine, designed to facilitate the needs of a modern medical education curriculum, opened its doors to its first incoming class. Soon to follow was the completion of the Center for Health and Fitness. Then, in 2001, the building that houses SSM was renamed the John and Herta Cuneo Center to honor a generous $4 million donation by the Cuneo family.

The most recent addition to the medical campus is the new outpatient center just south of the existing Medical facility. The 230,000 square-foot building will allow for expanded outpatient services including added space for diagnostic radiology and ambulatory surgery. Construction began in March 2001 and is slated for completion in April 2003.

Today Loyola’s teaching hospital, including the Vincent P. and Frances G. Russo Surgical Pavilion, is a teaching, tertiary care facility with 536 licensed beds. It has been nationally recognized for its contribution to the study and treatment of cardiovascular disease, pediatric and maternal disorders, cancer and burn injuries.

Through growth and improvement, Loyola University Medical Center has continued to fulfill Samuel Cardinal Stritch’s dreams that of a major Catholic medical center dedicated to meeting the ever-changing needs of the community.

Ours is a time of great need, and it is a time for great opportunity. Join us as we continue on our mission to provide the finest medical education and care possible. Welcome to Loyola University Chicago, St. John’s School of Medicine.

To my family, I would never have made it without your support. Mom, you never tired of listening to me go on and on about school. You always said I could do it and told me to go for the gold. P.S. you WILL take a picture with me today. Dad, you gave me the tools to be successful not only by your generosity but also by your advice and stories of encouragement. Brother Chris, no one could ask for a better brother. Most brothers rag on their little sisters, but you gave me every compliment in the book and still do. You are my constant cheerleader. To my best friend and sister Lisa, where do I start. Well, you taught me to read, though I never would have known it at the time as you kept telling me to "emphasize." You're crisis line - how many huge phone bills have we had? I might never have gotten into medical school without your help on essay after essay. By the end, I had called you so many times, I think you were ready to cry. You are my best friend and your husband is pretty great too! I LOVE you all! Thanks again for everything.

To Laugh often and much;
To win the respect of intelligent people and the affection of children;
To earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure the betrayal of false friends;
To appreciate beauty, to find the best in others;
To leave the world a bit better, whether by a healthy child, a garden patch or a redeemed social condition;
To know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived.
This is to have succeeded.

And whether or not it is clear to you, no doubt, the universe is unfolding as it should. - Desiderata-anonymous

Thank you to all of my friends and family for helping me along the way! I couldn't have done it without you.
"Never be lacking in zeal, but keep your spiritual service, serving the Lord. Be joyful in hope, patient in affliction, faithful in prayer. Share with God's people who are in need."

Romans 12: 11-13
What you are in love with
What seizes your imagination,
Will affect everything.
It will decide
What will get you out of bed in the morning,
What you will do with your evenings,
How you spend your your weekends,
What you read,
Who you know,
What breaks your heart,
And what amazes you
With joy and gratitude.
Fall in love, stay in love,
And it will decide everything.

- Pedro Aruppe, SJ

Thanks to all of you for your love and support - I am so lucky to have you in my life!
First of all, I would like to think my family and my husband Saj for all their support and for helping to make medical school as painless as possible. I would like to thank Rachel and Heather for being great roommates as well as "surrogate husbands." Marcy, my soulmate, thanks for the activism and for being a great study partner. Paul, thanks for your humor - some day you will ride the bull!
Good Luck to everyone in the future! - Sarah
I will bless the Lord at all times; His praise shall continually be in my mouth.
My soul will make its boast in the Lord; the humble will hear it and rejoice.
O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt His name together.
I sought the Lord, and He answered me, and delivered me from all my fears...
O taste and see that the Lord is good; How blessed is the man who takes refuge in Him!
O hear the Lord, you His saints: For to those who fear Him there is no want.
The young lions do lack and suffer hunger; But they who seek the Lord shall not be in want of any good thing.

Psalm 34: 1-2, 8-10

To see the world in a grain of sand
O'er heaven in a wild flower,
To hold eternity in the palm of your hand
And infinity in an hour.
When we see with our eyes and listen with our ears
We are led to believe a lie.
When we see through the eyes
Which was born in a night
To perish in a night
While the soul sighs in beams of light.

LaMonica, M.D.

Since you were small -
we saw it in you.
To mend people’s wounds and help stop
their pain.
Can’t say we didn’t know
you’d finish so well.
From the very first we
ALL could tell!!!
And now here you are in
your snazzy white coat.
armed and dangerous to
any common cold.
Way to go, Dr. Mary
LaMonica, M.D.
We pour you,
Congratulations,
now start say IV!!!

Your adoring fans,

Matthew Phillip Ostrom, MD
NEVER A DOUBT!

We are proud of you Matthew.

Our hearts have always believed you would accomplish your goals and be in yet another success模具. The character you have developed over the years, the courage in the face of fear and challenges, the diligence, perseverance, and hard work have made it all possible. Words seem inadequate to express how proud we are of you. May the Lord continue His face upon you, directing your footsteps and always providing His mercy of protection. We love you and will always continue to pray for you.

Love and Blessings
Mom and Joe
